Caribbean citizenship: Why is it unique?

Attaining a second citizenship and residency has gained immense popularity in recent years among internationally mobile investors and entrepreneurs. It opens up opportunities like access to overseas markets and a greater ability to do business around the world. Therefore most people want a passport that will improve their visa-free travel options.

Chosen by cosmopolitan investors as one of the most viable second citizenship options, the popular Caribbean passport allows access to at least 140 countries, including the Schengen zone, the UK and Singapore. Besides, there are several other benefits of a Caribbean visa. These include:

■ Safety and security: It facilitates moving to another country under unforeseen circumstances or obtaining citizenship for the entire family.

■ Economically viable: Starting at $100,000, it relaxes the hassles of travelling abroad and unlocks several new opportunities

■ Seamless and quick: Caribbean citizenship is offered in minimum three months making it one of the fastest obtainable citizenship programmes.

■ Wealth optimisation: It provides several entrepreneurial benefits such as favorable tax optimisation and swift opening of accounts with international banks.

■ Business opportunities: These programmes allow an investor to register a company and carry out business in other countries.

■ Inheritable citizenship: Future generations may be able to inherit citizenship.

The obvious but underrated benefit of dual citizenship is guaranteed residence in that country. In the current scenario, the status of dual citizenships has been affected by the pandemic and travel restrictions. Experienced professionals at UNO Capital provide bespoke services for second citizenship and an alternate strategy to mitigate these challenges.

We make sure that this can be an insurance policy to overcome security threats and political instability. UNO Capital ensures that you and your family have a guaranteed safe and secure place. Hence, in the future, the Caribbean holds a significant advantage for a second home and sanctuary.
